The Center for Agroforestry at the University of Missouri (UMCA), established in 1998, is one of the world's leading centers contributing to the science underlying integrated practices of agroforestry. These practices enhance land and aquatic habitats and improve biodiversity while sustaining land resources for generations to come. Our major goal is to support the long-term future of family farms and forests by achieving economic, environmental, and social sustainability. Each year in January, UMCA hosts the Agroforestry Symposium, an opportunity to bring together leading researchers and practitioners to explore in depth and showcase a compelling agroforestry related theme.

The Center for Agroforestry would like to thank our generous sponsors:
